

Specification AQA

- Sociology is the study of society and of people and their behaviour. It is an evidence-based subject – this means it is not just about personal opinions.
- Sociologists create theories and then collect evidence by carrying out research to work out whether the theories are true or not.
- Sociologists investigate the structure of groups, social institutions (like the family, school and prisons) and how people interact within these settings.
- The methods that are used are theoretical analysis, statistics, and observation. Some of the theories we will explore are:
  - Functionalism, Marxism, Feminism and Interactionism.
